Develop life skills

Minutes lost = days lost per year

A couple of minutes here and there doesn't seem like much, but...

When your child misses just...

they miss days per year

5 mins per day

30 mins per day

= 18 days

Patterns of lateness can have a serious impact on your child's education.

NCCD

The Nationally Consistent Collection of Data on School Students with Disability (NCCD) takes place every year.

The NCCD is a collection that counts:

- the number of school students receiving an adjustment or 'help' due to disability
- the level of adjustment they are receiving to access education on the same basis as other students.

Students are counted in the NCCD if they receive ongoing adjustments at school due to disability. This 'help' allows them to access education on the same basis as a child without disability. The NCCD uses the definition of disability in the Disability Discrimination Act 1992. Schools provide this information to education authorities.

The information collected by the NCCD helps teachers, principals, education authorities and governments to better support students with disability at school.

The definition of disability for the NCCD is based on the broad definition under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992. The following students are examples of those who may be included in the NCCD if they need monitoring and adjustments:

- students with learning difficulties (such as dyslexia)
- students with chronic health conditions (such as epilepsy or diabetes).

Schools identify which students will be counted in the NCCD. They base their decisions on the following:

- adjustments provided for the student (after consultation with the student and/or their parents, guardians and carers)
- the school team's observations and professional judgements
- any medical or other professional diagnoses
- other relevant information.

Protecting the privacy and confidentiality of all students is an essential part of the NCCD. Data is collected within each school. Personal details, such as student names or student identifiers, are not provided to federal education authorities.

Please contact Miss Hayman or Mrs Campbell if you require further information.

P&C Uniform and Canteen News

Our canteen and uniform manager, Melanie Grady, is employed by the P&C and we are dependent on volunteers to keep things operating. The P&C do not operate for profit as we like to keep prices as affordable as possible for our families however, expenses need to be covered. As a result of COVID and a lack of volunteers, the P&C have moved to online ordering for uniforms and canteen. This has also proved very convenient for many people. Once ordered the uniforms are delivered, on a Friday, to your child's classroom. To order online the P&C is using the platform www.quickcliq.com.au
